Coppin State University's Tenyo Pearl named among Maryland's Top 100 Women Circle of Excellence.

Tenyo Pearl, director of Coppin State University's Non-Profit Leadership Alliance, has been named to the Daily Record's 2020 listing of Maryland's Top 100 Women Circle of Excellence.

Pearl was selected based upon leadership achievement demonstrated through professional accomplishments, community involvement and mentoring. She will be one of 16 outstanding women to be honored as Circle of Excellence winners, having won the award for the third and final time. In the 25-year history of the award, 337 women have joined the Circle of Excellence. CSU is the only University System of Maryland (USM) institution that has a bachelor's degree in Non-profit Leadership, and one of two universities in Maryland (CSU and Salisbury University) that offers certified non-profit professional credentials (CNP). There are approximately 1.5 million non-profits in the United States and more than 32,000 non-profits in Maryland, according to marylandnonprofits.org.
